

Part-time research assistant for Bangladesh project

We, professors Julia Cajal and Gabriel Kreindler, together with MFO (Microfinance Opportunities) and the ILO, are conducting a study of spatial frictions in the garment industry labor market in Bangladesh.

We are currently looking for a student who has lived in the greater Dhaka area, to help with designing and creating an accurate dataset of neighborhoods and locations to be used as part of an upcoming survey of garment workers. Experience with or interest in GIS and Google Maps API is a plus, but not required.

We are looking for someone to start as soon as convenient. This part-time position is for ~20 hours over several weeks, with the possibility to extend to a part-time position for a longer period of time. If interested, please contact Gabriel (gkreindler@fas.harvard.edu).
