TEACHING FELLOW POSITIONS
2022 HARVARD SUMMER SCHOOL ECONOMICS PROGRAM

Monday, June 20 - Friday, August 5

The Harvard Summer School Economics Program is recruiting TFs for the courses listed below.

TF responsibilities vary somewhat by course, but ordinarily parallel those of a TF during the academic year: Weekly sections, office hours, some problem set and exam grading.

Compensation is $4,260 per 18 student section.

Listed below are the courses for which we are recruiting TFs. Please note that these are the only courses which currently need a TF.

To indicate your interest in particular courses, simply reply to sumecon@fas.harvard.edu

Be sure to include your phone number, cv, and a cover letter with a little about your background, academic interests, and any teaching experience. We are especially interested in rising junior and seniors who have had relevant coursework. (Note that previous teaching experience is not required.)

Time is critical, so please respond right away if at all interested.

__________________________________________________________________________

AVAILABLE COURSES

ECON S-70  Personal Finance and Financial Well-Being (Web conference course)
ECON S-1317  The Economics of Emerging Markets: Asia and Eastern Europe
ECON S-1452  Money, Financial Institutions and Markets
ECON S-1615  Managerial Economics
ECON S-1915  Neuroinvesting: Neuroscience and Financial Decision Making