

Harvard Environmental Economics Program

DEVELOPING INNOVATIVE ANSWERS TO TODAY'S COMPLEX ENVIRONMENTAL CHALLENGES

STUDENT PRIZES FOR ACADEMIC YEAR 2018–2019

The Harvard Environmental Economics Program will award three prizes in May 2019 for the best research papers addressing topics in environmental, energy, and natural-resource economics:

FOLLOWING ARE THE RULES FOR AUTHORSHIP OF SUBMITTED PAPERS:

- Submitted papers and theses must have been completed during the 2018–2019 academic year.
- Co-authored papers are acceptable, as long as all authors are students, whether at Harvard or elsewhere.
- At least one author must be a qualified student enrolled in a degree program at Harvard.
- Papers co-authored with non-students (faculty members, consultants, outside researchers, etc.) are not allowed.
- Competitions for the masters and doctoral student prizes are open to students enrolled in a degree program in any of Harvard's schools.
- Individual students may appear as an author for only one submitted paper.

- » ENEL ENDOWMENT PRIZE FOR BEST UNDERGRADUATE PAPER OR SENIOR THESIS: $1,000
- » MOSSAVAR-RAHMANI CENTER PRIZE FOR BEST MASTERS STUDENT PAPER: $1,500
- » ANA AGUADO PRIZE FOR THE BEST PAPER BY A DOCTORAL STUDENT: $2,000

Important dates and guidelines for submission:

- The deadline for receipt of submissions is Thursday, May 2nd, at 12:00 PM. In the interest of fairness, there will be no exceptions with regard to the deadline.
- Please submit paper and C.V. in electronic form to Casey Billings, Program Coordinator for the Harvard Environmental Economics Program: Casey_Billings@hks.harvard.edu
- Winners will be announced by Thursday, May 16, 2019.

Regarding the prize:

- Submitted papers will be reviewed—and the winners chosen—by a specially appointed faculty committee.
- If a submitted paper is co-authored by two or more students in the same prize category, then each of these students will be acknowledged as a prize winner.
- The monetary award will be presented to only one student—the student submitting the paper by email—regardless of co-authorship (if any). The recipient of the monetary award is free to distribute it as he or she wishes.
- It is assumed that submitted papers will have been prepared for other purposes (classes, publication, job market, etc.). It is not required nor expected that students prepare papers specifically for the prize competition.
- The Harvard Environmental Economics Program may ask prize-winning authors if the Program may release their papers as part of its Discussion Paper series.
