Seeking Economist with Flair for Design

Do you love econ? Do you appreciate excellent use of space and color? Are you skilled at Adobe InDesign (or Photoshop)?

If so, we are looking for YOU. The Ec Advising Team seeks an ec-interested student to help create some sleek and stylish printed material for ec students. You’ll work closely with the Team to develop material over the next 1-3 months, depending on your availability.

Compensation: $16/hour.
Hours per week: Flexible, but preferably at least 5 hours in the first 2 weeks.
Required skills: Experience with Adobe Indesign preferred (but Photoshop ok too); willingness to be creative.

If interested, please email Kiran at kgajwani@fas.harvard.edu with the following info:

- 100 words or fewer about why you’d like this job (in the email text; not as an attachment).
- One of the following (you can send both, but not required):
  - Resume
  - Your own artwork, photography, samples of previous work, etc.

No deadline, but we will begin reviewing applications April 16, 2018.
