FALL 2022 – Seminar in Economic Theory

September 8, Mohammad Akbarpour (Stanford University) "An Economic Framework for Vaccine Prioritization"
MIT

September 15, Yannai Gonczarowski (Harvard University) "Strategyproofness-Exposing Mechanism Descriptions"
MIT

September 22, Jonathan Weinstein (Washington University in St. Louis, visiting MIT) "Direct Complementarity"
Harvard

September 29, Moritz Meyer-ter-Vehn (UCLA) "Experimentation on Networks"
Harvard

October 6, Ellen Muir (Harvard University, visiting MIT) "Wage Dispersion, Involuntary Unemployment and Minimum Wages under Monopsony and Oligopsony"
Harvard

October 20, Olivier Gossner (LSE) "Automata Representations of Information in Games, with Applications to Information Design"
MIT

October 27, Jacob Leshno (University of Chicago) "Price Discovery in Waiting Lists"
Harvard

November 17, Ben Brooks (University of Chicago) "On the Structure of Informationally Robust Optimal Auctions"
Harvard

December 1, Yingni Guo (Northwestern University) "Regret-Minimizing Project Choice"
MIT